

Letters

Publisher's Page

Editorials: The Destruction of the Planet; Victimology

Articles

Nabil Shaat & Michael Lerner A Conversation with the PLO

Jim Sleeper Ed Koch and the End of the Liberal Jewish Community in New York

Tamar Frankiel New Age Mythology: A Jewish Response to Joseph Campbell

Christopher Lasch Progress: The Last Superstition

Isa Aron The Malaise of Jewish Education

Roger Friedland & Richard Hecht The Two Banks of Jerusalem

Carlin Romano Slouching Toward Pressology

Special Feature: A Distance from the Holocaust

Chana Bloch Visiting the Burnt House

Francine Prose Protecting the Dead

Miriam Akavia Nelly

Phillip Lopate Resistance to the Holocaust

Yehuda Bauer Don't Resist

Deborah E. Lipstadt What is the Meaning of this to You?

Phillip Lopate Responds to Bauer and Lipstadt

Conference Papers

Irving Howe American Jews and Israel

Grace Paley Now and Then

Alfred Kazin The Cry for Justice

Judy Chicago Women and Tikkun/tikkun

Irena Klepfisz Jewish Progressives and the Jewish Community

Daniel Landes Anti-Semitism Parading as Anti-Zionism

Poetry

Stephen Mitchell Five Parables

Anid Dame The Uses of Laughter

Willa Schneberg Porno-Drive-In, Knoxville, TN

Shlomi Harif Nablus Schizophrenia

Fiction

Marcie Hershman Sworn Statements: The Guillotine

Reviews

David Biale The Wrath of Jonah by Rosemary Radford Ruether and Herman J. Ruether

Casey Blake The Company of Critics by Michael Walzer

Harold Jacobs Reunion: A Memoir by Tom Hayden

Current Debate

Is Tikkun Too Conservative?

Jesse Lemisch v.s. Tikkun